

Digital State at the Leading Edge

Limited Seating, Reserve Now!

Information technology is having a profound - and possibly transformational - impact on government in terms of its structure, processes, and relationship to society. IPAC Vancouver is pleased to present an informative breakfast session to look at the impact of IT on government and the work of public administrators, including politics and campaigning, service delivery, public consultation, knowledge management, and procurement.

Please join us in welcoming coauthors Sandford Borins and David Brown for an insightful discussion on their research into politics and the public service in the online world. The new book Digital State at the Leading Edge uses the federal and Ontario governments - two acknowledged leaders in the application of IT - as case studies.

~~~~~

Sandford Borins is a professor in Public Management at the University of Toronto. David Brown is a senior associate at the Public Policy Forum in Ottawa, and a doctoral candidate in the Department of Political Science at Carleton University.

~~~~~

The book Digital State at the Leading Edge is available at a discounted price of $30 when purchased with registration. This option is only available until November 26th so that books ordered will be available for pick-up at the event.

Thursday, December 6, 2007 8:00 - 10:30am
Civic Theatre Salon

600 Block of Hamilton (Salon A entrance - between the Queen Elizabeth Theatre and the Vancouver Playhouse)

Register on-line: http://www.civicinfo.bc.ca/Conference/ipac_vancouver.asp

IPAC Members - $20 IPAC Non members - $25 Book Inclusive - $50
Includes Continental Breakfast

Cancellations 3 business days prior - substitutions permitted any time
Questions? Email: vancouver@ipac.ca

Please pass this notice on to others who may be interested in attending this session.