

New Frontiers in Public Sector Governance and Performance Reporting

Limited Seating, Reserve Now!

In this age of increasing demands on our resources and increasing demands for accountability, the need to examine our governance structures and the way in which we report our performance are greater than ever.

Come and join us for an informative half-day session in which we will examine the new reporting environment, recent developments and the implications for public sector managers at all levels.

Peter Gregory, KPMG LLP
Developments in Public Sector Performance and Reporting

Peter Gregory leads KPMG's Performance Measurement and Reporting practice. He is the former Deputy Auditor General of British Columbia and has been a significant contributor to the development of public sector accountability concepts and practices both nationally and in BC.

Tim McEwan, BC Progress Board

Tim McEwan is Executive Director of the BC Progress Board, which is tasked with benchmarking BC's economic and social progress and providing strategic advice to the Premier and government. Mr. McEwan previously served as Director, Programs and Policy with the Business Council of BC and played a key role in the activities of the BC Business Summit.

Panel
Performance Reporting in Practice

Dr. Jim McDavid, Professor of Public Administration, University of Victoria

Dr. McDavid is also the Co-director of the Local Government Institute. He is a specialist in program evaluation, performance measurement and the production of local government services.

Meagan Gergley, Ministry of Community Services
Ms. Gergley is a Policy Analyst specializing in local government policy and research.

You will have plenty of opportunity to ask questions of our experts and network with these and others while enjoying morning refreshments and a hot lunch.
